CHOKMA!

We are excited to report another successful year of progress and growth for the Chickasaw Nation.

It was a great year of accomplishment, allowing continual growth of quality programs and services.

Successful, diversified business operations and economic development allow the tribe to offer improved opportunities for Chickasaws each year and remain committed to our mission of enhancing the overall quality of life of the Chickasaw people.

Many of the past year's achievements are outlined in this 2017 Progress Report. As you read the following pages, we hope you share in our optimism for the bright future of the Chickasaw Nation.

Sincerely,

Bill Anoatubby, Governor

"The Chikasha Pehlichikbi Youth Leadership Program has made a major impact on my life. Before I was a member of the program, I was terrified to speak to people I didn't know or large crowds. The courses this program offered helped me develop public speaking and networking skills. It has not only prepared me to be a leader, but has also helped me grow into the person I am today."

Chikasha Pehlichikbi (Youth Leadership Program) provided 119 Chickasaw high school students with tools to promote confident leaders.

Five Chickasaw youth received sponsorships to attend the 2017 Native Youth Preventing Diabetes camp.

Thirty-six Chickasaw students attended the Space Academy at the U.S. Rocket & Space Center in Huntsville, Alabama, where they participated in simulations of astronaut actions, among other activities.

Forty-seven Chickasaw students from around the country attended Chickasaw Nation Aviation and Space Academy, which encourages students to pursue opportunities in aviation, space, science and math.

COMMERCE

BUSINESS HAS FLOURISHED AS WE CONTINUE TO EXPAND AND DIVERSIFY IN ORDER TO SUPPORT AND ENHANCE ONGOING AND DEVELOPING PROGRAMS SERVING CITIZENS AND IMPROVING COMMUNITIES.

Current tribal business diversification includes manufacturing, energy, health care, media, technology, hospitality, retail and tourism.

The Artesian Hotel has welcomed more than 210,000 guests since opening in 2013.

The WinStar Convention Center opened in September 2016, with more than 65,000 square feet of brand new meeting space. The facility has hosted more than 100,000 guests in its first year for various events and conferences.

COMMUNITY

EACH YEAR, WE CREATE AND MAINTAIN COMMITTED PARTNERSHIPS AS WELL AS QUALITY PROGRAMS AND INITIATIVES FOCUSED ON DEVELOPING A GREATER SENSE OF COMMUNITY.

A new Chickasaw Nation Community Center and Area Office opened in Tishomingo in April 2017.

The new Chickasaw Nation Information Center also began operations in Tishomingo to serve a wide range of tourists, highlight local attractions and communicate the Chickasaw Nation's connection to the Tishomingo area.

A new Chickasaw Nation Area Office opened its doors in Purcell in September 2017.

Te Ata was released at select theaters across the United States this year. The film is based on the inspiring, true story of Chickasaw storyteller, Mary Thompson Fisher.

The feature film, The Chickasaw Rancher, is currently in post-production and explores the life of Montford T. Johnson.

Rides provided by transportation services

Ackia, a film depicting 18th century Chickasaw warriors as they battled to protect their homeland against the French army, is currently in pre-production.

More than 260 Chickasaw citizens were assisted through the Chickasaw Nation Disaster Relief & Recovery Fund in FY 2017.

In 2017, the Chickasaw Nation conducted five community gatherings across the U.S.: in Northern California, Northern Texas, Southern Texas, Southern California and the Pacific Northwest.

More than 160 community council and citizen connection group meetings were conducted for Chickasaws across the United States. Currently, there are 34 citizen groups in 17 states.

The Lighthorse Police Department answered more than 20,000 calls for service across the Chickasaw Nation.

More than 2,700 Thanksgiving baskets and nearly 2,900 Christmas baskets were provided for eligible Chickasaw families.

More than 650 Christmas gifts were provided to Chickasaw families through the Angel Tree program.

Community health representatives served 13,640 Chickasaw citizens and 4,575 Native Americans by testing vital signs, providing transportation to appointments and picking up medication.

Through the computer distribution program, 180 refurbished computers were provided to Chickasaw citizens to help learn, develop and implement skills needed in today's modern world of technology.

In 2017, transportation services provided more than 43,000 rides for clients to work and non-emergency medical appointments and the delivery of medical refill prescriptions to homebound citizens.

The Chickasaw Nation Honor Guard attended more than 1,000 events in 2017.

The Chickasaw Warrior Society, which encourages community, establishes and supports camaraderie and personifies the Chickasaw warrior spirit, now has more than 1,300 veterans participating in the organization.

Oliver Neal III

CHICKASAW CITIZEN & VETERAN

Oliver Neal III, a Chickasaw citizen and member of the Chickasaw Warrior Society, attended the Chickasaw Community Gathering in Sacramento, California, one of five such gatherings in 2017, to celebrate culture, heritage and community.

“Going to the gathering and the citizen connection group is a good way to stay connected to the tribe,” Mr. Neal stated.

The gatherings offered Chickasaws an opportunity to learn more about the programs and services the tribe has available to citizens across the country.

“We just went to all the booths to find out about all we could,” Mr. Neal stated. “It was a very informative meeting.”

He takes great pride in the growth of the Chickasaw Nation and often visits Oklahoma to attend annual events.

“I don’t think people realize how far we’ve come as a nation. I remember that we were a small tribe...we used to meet at Seeley Chapel,” he said.

Now, Chickasaws from across the country have a variety of ways to stay connected.

CULTURE & ARTS

WE CONTINUE TO SEEK NEW WAYS TO PRESERVE AND PROMOTE THE RICH HISTORY AND STORY OF THE CHICKASAW PEOPLE THROUGH CULTURAL, ARTISTIC AND TECHNOLOGY-BASED PROGRAMS AND SERVICES.

The Chickasaw Inkana Foundation and the City of Tupelo, Mississippi hosted its first Chickasaw Celebration this year with more than 1,200 attendees.

The Chickasaw Cultural Center (CCC) has been bringing visitors from around the world to south-central Oklahoma since opening its doors in 2010. This year, it surpassed 600,000 guests.

The CCC had more than 99,000 visitors this year, and was again named Best State Tourism Destination by The Oklahoman newspaper's "Readers Choice Award."

The Inkana Bridge was completed in 2017 to link the Chickasaw National Recreation Area to the CCC. More than 1,600 visitors used the bridge.

More than 8,800 people enjoyed stickball, language games, art classes, cultural demonstrations and more at this year's Three Sisters Celebration, hosted by the CCC.

In 2017, the Holisso Research Center on the CCC campus provided research assistance to more than 13,800 patrons and completed more than 2,100 genealogy requests.

The fine arts program served more than 3,000 students in 2017 with a variety of exhibits, classes, workshops, events and demonstrations.

Students served through the fine arts program

LaKala Orphan

CHICKASAW CITIZEN

LaKala Orphan, former Little Miss Chickasaw, enjoys many of the classes and learning opportunities offered by the Chickasaw Nation Department of Culture and Humanities.

She cherished her time as Little Miss Chickasaw, which allowed her to represent her tribe across the country.

"I've had a wonderful experience serving as princess getting to travel to new places and meeting new people while representing the Chickasaw Nation," LaKala said.

She also attended the Chickasaw Nation Arts Academy, learning the various art forms taught at the academy. The arts academy is a two-week intensive exploration of both fine arts and performing arts. LaKala was interested in 2-D art, but what really caught her attention was textiles. She enjoyed making different items and learning the process to make those items.

LaKala has been a member of the Chickasaw Children's Choir for six years. She says she benefits from these programs by building self-confidence and learning to speak in front of a group of people.

The JOM program also distributed nearly $363,000 to 50 contracted public schools and one community-based program.

The tribe provided tutoring assistance to 186 Chickasaw students through the tutoring reimbursement program.

The State-Tribal Education Partnership Pilot Program, a partnership with the Oklahoma State Department of Education, focuses on technical assistance and tribal consultation to local school districts and professional staff. This year, the program reached more than 4,000 Native American students.

The Chickasaw Nation Imatahli (Preparing Someone) Program assisted 556 Chickasaw middle and high school students with college and career preparation and planning.

Individuals assisted through the adult learning program

The Native Youth Community Project (NYCP), a federal grant program awarded by the United States Department of Education through the Office of Indian Education, started in 2017 to assist students and families in removing barriers typically found in the educational journeys of Native American students in public schools. The program currently serves 14 school districts.

Morgan Gray

CHICKASAW CITIZEN

Morgan Gray received higher education assistance through the Chickasaw Nation Higher Education Program to attend Texas A&M University for her undergraduate and graduate studies.

"I am grateful and thankful to have been awarded the Lifetime Scholarship, which provided me the opportunity to pursue both degree programs without having to worry about how I would fund my expenses," Ms. Gray said. "Without the financial support provided to me by the Chickasaw Nation, I would not have been able to pursue higher education without compromising my future financial security."

Ms. Gray is a student at the Bush School of Government and Public Service at Texas A&M, where she plans to graduate in May 2018. After graduation, she hopes to serve the Chickasaw Nation and Chickasaw citizens.

"I have developed a strong passion for advocacy of policies that work to represent populations without a voice. I am so inspired by the Chickasaw Nation's leadership, and the progress that has been made in the last few decades."

Fifty NYCP students traveled to Washington, D.C. in July 2017, where they met staff from the National Congress of the American Indian, toured the U.S. Capitol, Georgetown University, the Smithsonian and many other historical sites.

The adult learning program assisted 408 individuals with the goal of completing the High School Equivalency certification.

The recruitment and retention program, which partners with Oklahoma universities to increase the graduation rates of Chickasaw students, served 365 Chickasaws in the 2016-17 school year.

Ninety-five students participated in the tribal robotics program to compete in various robotics competitions across the country.

ELDERS

WE HONOR OUR ELDERS AND OFFER A VARIETY OF PROGRAMS AND SERVICES TO MEET THEIR NEEDS.

The Chickasaw Nation has 11 senior centers throughout south-central Oklahoma, located in Ada, Ardmore, Colbert, Connerville, Duncan, Kullihoma, Madill, Pauls Valley, Purcell, Sulphur and Tishomingo.

The senior centers provided 173,187 balanced meals to qualified Native American elders in FY 2017.

The senior farmers' market nutrition program served nearly 5,000 Native American elders with checks to be used at local farmers' markets.

The winter fruits and vegetables benefit program for elders served 2,757 Chickasaw elders with 13,787 bags of fresh fruits and vegetables.

The 2017 Elders Conference drew 386 attendees to the WinStar Convention Center.

New in 2017, the senior golf academy hosted 40 elders who received two days of instruction from professional golfers and played in a round of competition golf on the final day.

The impa imma (elder frozen meal) program delivered more than 2,350 nutritionally-balanced meals to Chickasaw elders living within the Chickasaw Nation service area, but outside of the senior center homebound delivery route.

The elderly energy assistance programs provided supplemental utility assistance to 4,457 Chickasaw elders during the summer and winter months.

Twenty Chickasaw veterans traveled to Washington, D.C. to visit the WWII National Monument, Arlington National Cemetery, National Museum of the American Indian, the U.S. Capitol and Mount Vernon.

During the annual car care event, the Nation checked auto fluids, tire pressures and wiper blades for 114 elders.

Henry Cease

CHICKASAW CITIZEN

Henry Cease, a Marine Corps veteran who served in Vietnam, took part in the Chickasaw Nation's Annual Elder Veterans' Trip to Washington, D.C. in 2016.

"It was a real honor," Mr. Cease said of the experience. "You get to represent the Chickasaw Nation at our capital."

Each year, the Chickasaw Nation hosts Chickasaw elder veterans on a week long trip to the nation's capital to visit the many sights and participate in Veterans Day observations. Among the sights, the Vietnam Veterans Memorial stood out to Mr. Cease.

"We went to the wall...there's one place on the wall where three in my unit are there together. There are a couple other names spread out around that same tablet," he said.

The trip to Washington D.C. culminated with a wreath laying at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. "They wanted me to go up and place the wreath at the Tomb of the Unknowns," Mr. Cease remembered. "I was honored."

The Chickasaw Nation elderly specialists assisted 718 elders with locating resources, completing applications and gathering required documents to obtain services.

The Chickasaw Nation provided nearly 13,700 over-the-counter medications at no cost to Chickasaw elders.

The itiapela (elder help) program served 46 Chickasaw elders by providing 24-hour medical alert services.

The Nation's assisted living supplement program provided up to $2,500 per month for 42 Chickasaw elders to live in a state-licensed assisted living facility.

Chad Henry

CHICKASAW CITIZEN

Chad Henry and his wife, Sarah, opened their hearts and home through the Chickasaw Nation Foster Care and Adoption Program in May 2016. The Henry's have one biological daughter, Sydnee, who is 5 years old.

"When you get more children in your home, your love does not split, but it grows," he said. "The children have a social worker you can contact for any needs and each foster family has a foster care worker assigned to guide them through the process and support them after they receive placement."

The Henry family believes that support and stability are important qualities a foster family can give a child in their home.

"Do not wait to open your home if you are considering fostering and adopting, because there is a great need out there for tribal homes to open their doors to these awesome kids. There is no better time than right now to be a foster family," Mr. Henry said.

Cheyenne Digby

CHICKASAW CITIZEN

Cheyenne Digby credits the Chickasaw Nation School-to-Work Program with her current professional success and enjoyment.

"The on-the-job training in the program prepared me and gave me the work experience needed after graduation," said Ms. Digby.

The Chickasaw Nation School-to-Work Program was created for Chickasaw citizens who are actively pursuing an educational or vocational degree. Ms. Digby's inspiration for applying to the program came from home.

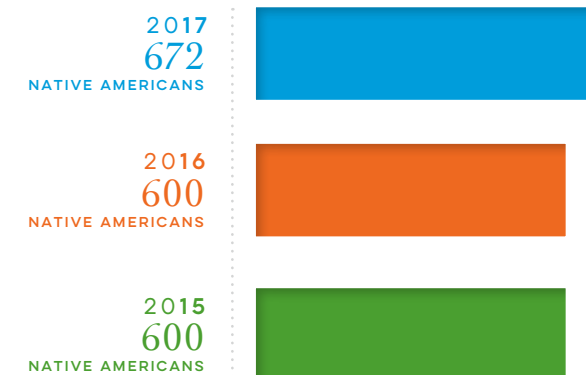

"I wanted to finish my education and be a role model for my three boys," she said.

She was accepted into the program in 2014 while a student at East Central University, where she was majoring in human service counseling. After graduating in the fall of 2016, Ms. Digby was hired by the school-to-work program as a career counselor. It is a position where she is able to assist other Chickasaws in achieving their educational and career goals.

"I am very honored to have been given the opportunity to continue as a career counselor with such an amazing team and program," she said.

* The Chickasaw Nation has implemented Governmental Accounting Standards Board Statement No. 34, Basic Financial Statements - and Management's Discussion and Analysis - for State and Local Governments. Statement 34 changes our method of recording and reporting our fixed assets. In the past, when the Nation purchased a fixed asset it was shown as an expenditure in the current year. Now the purchase is shown in the balance sheet as a capital asset and depreciated over its useful life.

 In 2007, the Chickasaw Housing Authority received guidance from the Department of Housing and Urban Development regarding the treatment of Mutual Help housing units. This guidance states that such units should be recorded as other assets, rather than as capital assets on the balance sheet until the property is ultimately conveyed.
